I'm not sure exactly what documents have been requested – I don't have anything from the company, although I do have some information which was gathered from data systems, the State, and others within EPA, along with some papers developed which discuss our various regulatory authorities. It adds up to approximately 25 (or so) email messages.

Each Division has been asked to ascertain whether they have any documents responsive to the recent chemical spill at Freedom Industries in West Virginia. So, if anyone believes they may have responsive documents, please get back to me today and provide an estimate of the volume of documents you have. Please copy Cathy Libertz on your response and thanks for your immediate attention on this matter.
